

MOOD BOARD

SUSAN CRATER

The granddaughter of Sister Parish and creative director of her eponymous firm worked with Lee Jofa to create the Parish Hadley Collection, an homage (in fabric!) to the legends.

1. IT TAKES TWO

"Jag Trellis is a nod to both Sister Parish's avid gardening—note the lattice—and Albert Hadley's love of animal prints, which he felt brought luxury and glamour to a room."

2. SMALL STUFF

"The last stage of an install was always Sister Parish coming in with accessories. She used objects to humanize grand spaces."

3. INNER ARTIST

"Albert always said everyone should draw, even if they were bad at it. He felt the act of putting pencil to paper forced you to think things through."

4. GLOBE-TROTTERS

"In the 1970s, they were really into 'ethnic' prints, which they'd put on a Chippendale chair. Cutting edge!"

DESIGN BOOKS

CLEANUP ACTS

What does today's top Japanese pro organizer have in common with centuries of French homeowners? A steadfast belief in honoring your home—all the way down to the utensil drawer. These new books brim with day-cheering wisdom, including age-old tips passed from parent to child (or pro to protégé), now hardbound for you.

Francophiles, turn to French Chic Living for advice on creating a welcoming maison. Examples: Washing with cream of tartar brightens tablecloths; tossing salt in a fire revives the blaze (add orange rinds and cinnamon for a burst of scent). $50. rizzoliusa.com

Marie Kondo, the brain behind the KonMari Method, is back with Spark Joy, an illustrated guide to home order. On the agenda? Nitty-gritty organizing of everything from the sock drawer to refrigerator shelves to love letters from old boyfriends—most of which, she argues, you should recycle to let love in now. $19. tenspeedpress.com
